Boys' State's Hosts from K-State Housing and Dining Services Department: Chuck Werring (director of housing), David Yoder (Marlatt Hall director) Bob Burgess (assistant director of housing) and Sheryl Powell (Kramer dining director)

All of the planning and execution for the fifty-ninth session of the American Legion Boys' State of Kansas is now committed to history. Committed to history and the hearts and minds of over 600 young men from across Kansas. It is with great pride that I am able to report that the 1996 Staters excelled at the task that they accepted when they first filled out their application.

Our Boys' State staff, consisting of volunteers from around the country, meet periodically throughout the year to evaluate the previous session and plan for the next one. These fine men spend a great deal of their time and their money so that each session will be better than the last. It is with great pride that I am able to report that they have succeeded once again in the task that they accepted when they agreed to be a counselor or an adviser.

Often times you will hear delegates to Boys' State say, as Nic Delgado, a Boys Nation delegate from Wyoming recently said,

"...at your hands I have learned leadership, character, respect, discipline, integrity, hope, prayer, and above all, the love of my country and my fellow man."

If ever, as a sponsor, you have wondered if your efforts were being rewarded, you need only to talk to a Boys' State alumnus.

To all associated with the continuing success of Boys' State, I thank you on behalf of the American Legion and on behalf of everyone who will be positively affected by their association with a Boys' Stater.

1996 Executive Director Allen Klassen

For this week of Boys' State, we've all come together to learn about politics. We've taken week out of our summer to not only see the political process in action, but to become a part of it. To come face to face with real problems, real obstacles and real people. We've come together to see the necessity of political involvement, and what it takes to shape our society. And we've come to learn that in order to accomplish anything, we have to work with others. - Eric Reid, 1993 delegate from Dodge City

"To inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation" is the purpose of the American Legion Boys' State program. It was organized by the Department of Illinois in 1935.

The Department of Kansas, holding charter number five, was among the first to institute this week-long government-in-action program. Now, virtually every state department of the American Legion has set up its own Boys' State because they have seen the program's potential for educating youth in practical politics and government operation.

Kansas Boys' State was headquartered in Wichita for 26 years before moving to the campus of the University of Kansas in 1963. It stayed there until 1992 when the program moved to Kansas State University and the office moved to the American Legion Headquarters in Topeka.

The Boys' State program is available to any high school senior-to-be who meets the academic standards and demonstrates leadership potential. Civic and church groups, as well as American Legion Posts, sponsor delegates to this fine learning-by-doing and youth-in-government program.

Almost 50,000 young men from across Kansas, including over 600 this year alone, have participated in Boys' State and performed nearly every function of city, county and state government. Former delegates and members of the American Legion and Sons of the American Legion return each year to serve as counselors and advisers for the program. Many of them work year around on ways to improve the curriculum and structure of the program.

During each session, two staters are chosen by their peers to represent Kansas at the American Legion Boys Nation which convenes in Washington, D.C. in mid-July. In doing so they participate in a learning-by-doing program that focuses on our national government.

The 59th session of the American Legion Boys' State of Kansas began shortly after noon for the delegates. Counselors and advisors, many of whom work year-around on this program, had begun final preparation for the delegates the morning before.

Upon arrival to the campus of Kansas State University, delegates are given room assignments that make up the city and county political sub-divisions from which most of their work will be done during the week. Each was assigned to a city. Three cities make up a county.

Following the orientation session at McCain Auditorium, work on setting up individual cities, the first step in establishing the Boys' State began.

RIGHT: Meetings all week long were held in Ackert and Cardwell Halls just a block way from the Boys' State residence halls.

LEFT: Precinct committee-men worked throughout the day to develop and explain their party platforms.

Candidates from both parties used the political bazaar to express their views and ask for votes.

Political parties and special interest associations got going on Monday with a political bazaar in the morning and local party conventions in the afternoon. Around these conventions, city government began work on their local projects which mirror the problems that Kansas cities face.

The primary election was conducted late Monday afternoon. The parties and associations wasted no time and began efforts that evening toward ensuring that their people and interests would be victorious in the general election.

MONDAY, JUNE 3, 1996

The 1996 state officials: Sean Bleything, Ben Walker, Seth Tobin, Curtis Petersen, Patrick Thiessen and Alan Potter.

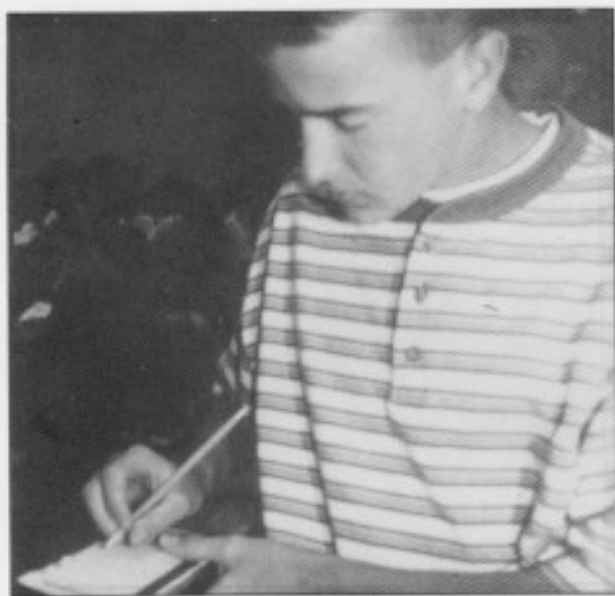

Tuesday marked the end of partisan politics at Boys' State and the formation of county and state governments.

Following a morning state office debate, moderated by the associations, and speeches from county office seekers, state and county officials were elected and the legislature began its work.

Staters were also able to apply for the various appointed offices and those were in turn appointed by the newly elected governor on the same day.

The state officials elected for the week were:

Governor	Curtis Petersen
Lt. Governor	Seth Tobin
Attorney General	Ben Walker
Secretary of State	Alan Potter
State Treasurer	Patrick Thiessen
Commissioner of Insurance	Sean Bleything

Voting in the primary and general elections took place in the city areas.

Staters musical and performing talents shined at the Wednesday night talent show. Including the National Anthem, played on the bagpipes.

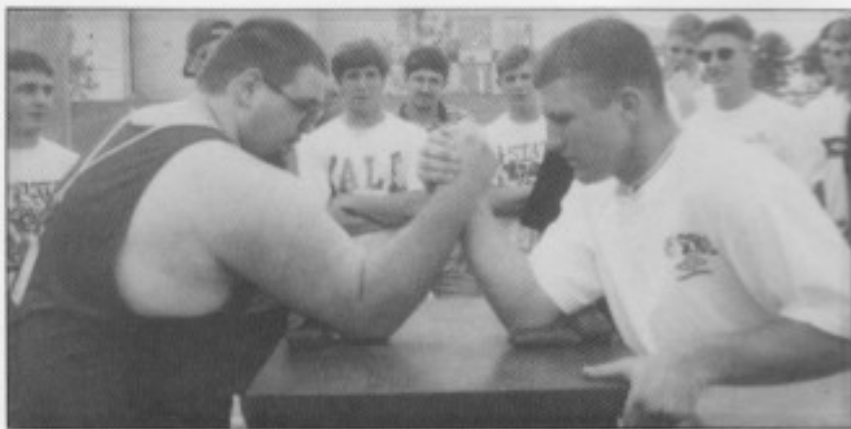

Members of the Boys' State Legislature began their work.

On Wednesday morning the governments of Boys' State got into full swing on the state and county level. With the newly created state government in place, city projects became the local leg of state-wide issues and the whole organization became interactive.

Any action made by the legislature now affected local budgets and employment as well, making all politics at Boys' State local.

Wednesday evening brought the ever-popular talent show to state.

Intramural athletic competition continued, as counties competed each afternoon in softball, basketball, volleyball and some individual events.

The arm wrestling contest pits musclemen from across the state in annual competition.

Boys State Governor Curtis Petersen explains some of his ideas to staters and Coordinator Willie T. Moore.

On Thursday, government operations were fine tuned after all legislative and executive bodies had a day of experience under their belts.

New plans were made and old ones were either adjusted or scrapped.

Courts through the state continued hearing cases while, the Supreme Court had a full day of hearing appeals.

Candidates for Boys Nation spoke that evening, an event that was followed by the band and chorus concerts in McCain Auditorium. Both musical groups had been practicing all week for the performance.

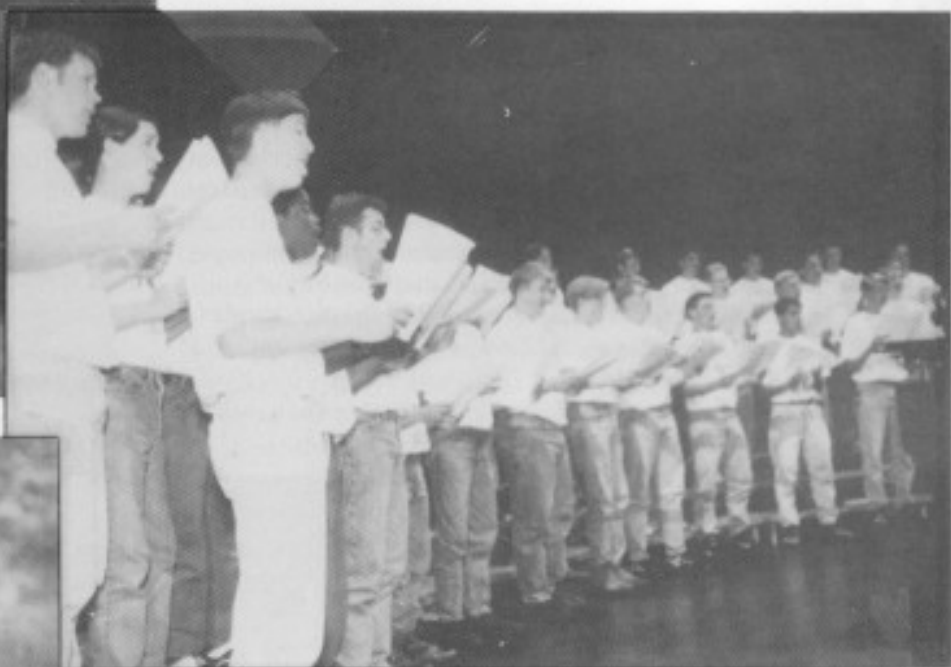

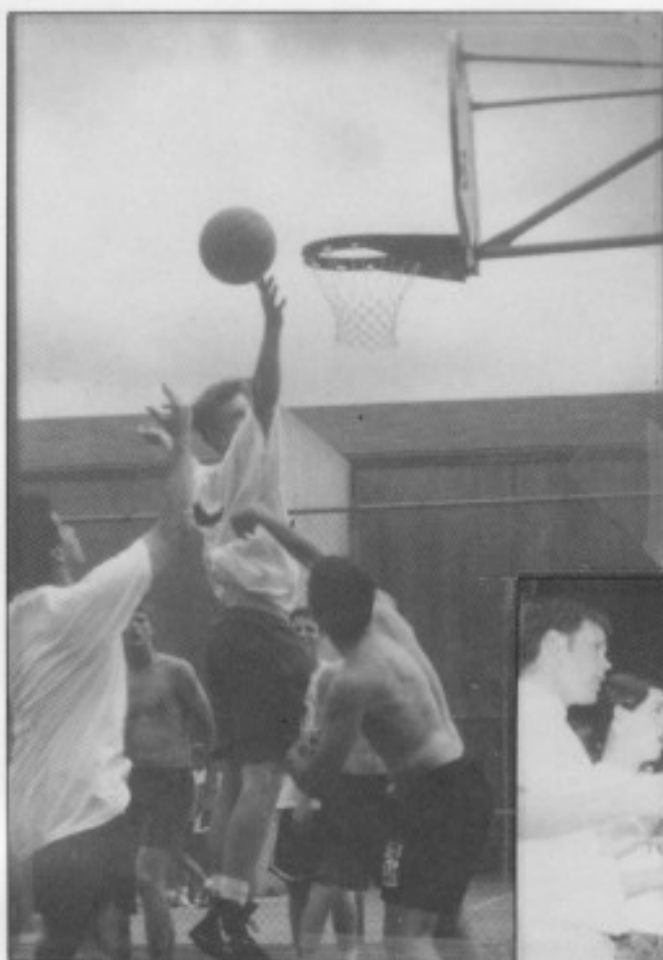

Many groups such as the various association, newspaper editors and highway patrol staff continued their work.

K-State President Jon Wefald, a North Dakota Boys' Stater, spoke about the value of his experience there and its effect on his later life.

Members of the Boys' State Highway patrol worked with Kansas patrolmen throughout the week.

EVENS

Last minute debate keeps the Legislature busy until late Friday afternoon.

The week's activities concluded on Friday as governmental bodies conducted their last bits of business and the legislature wrapped up its activities. The last bills went to the Governor's desk for approval or rejection.

This was the last chance for associations to get their agenda made into law.

Boys Nations delegates were elected to represent Kansas at the national level in July. In the afternoon, cities and counties dissolved their organizations and prepared for the evening dance and the movies all held in honor of the Governor's Ball.

Coordinators Rodney Franks, Trey Ham and Tim Kukula pose with some Staters' dates for the Friday Inaugural Celebration.

The band prepares to lead the counties Staters to McCain Auditorium for Saturday morning's closing ceremonies.

The flag lowering following the closing ceremonies marks the end of this session. Our flag serves as a living monument to all those who gave their lives for our freedoms and reminds us what is best about our country.

In the cool morning air the staters made their last march to McCain Auditorium for the closing ceremonies. The annual slide show reviewed the fun times and proud moments of the week.

Music and a traditional narrative capped off the week, putting into perspective the goals and purposes of Boys' State and challenging the staters to be better citizens; better Americans.

After the ceremony and the final march back to the retreat area the flag was lowered for the last time of the session and over 600 young men returned to their homes across the state: better people and better Kansans for having been Kansas Boys' staters.

In doing so they began to learn that government is compromise, and political beliefs cannot be taught but must be formed. They also enhanced the lives of those counselors and advisors for whom Boys' State holds special meaning.
